The News Defense Checklist

Protect your account from severe slippage and wide spreads before high-impact headlines hit.

01 How to use this checklist

- Review your trading setup thirty minutes before scheduled economic announcements.
- Ensure your platform controls are active so unexpected volatility does not force bad fills.
- Automated rules remove the urge to rush into erratic markets during sudden price gaps.

02 Execution controls to verify

- A spread filter rejects orders instantly whenever the gap between bid and ask widens.
- Maximum slippage caps cancel fills that drift beyond your accepted boundary.
- A working emergency stop switch lets you freeze all automated activity in one click.

03 Account safety guidelines

- Run your execution rules on your own broker account in your own name.
- Test every defense rule on a demo setup before risking your own balance.
- Keep your live starting balance at $1,000 or more with capital you can risk.

Checklist

- [ ] Check your economic calendar each morning for high-impact release times
- [ ] Enable a spread filter on MetaTrader 5 to block entries during wide gaps
- [ ] Define a maximum allowable slippage cap inside your execution settings
- [ ] Confirm your platform has a one-click pause button visible and armed
- [ ] Keep open positions sized small enough to withstand brief price gaps
- [ ] Audit your order history after the event to confirm fill quality
- [ ] Leave the software paused until spreads settle back to standard baselines
